

Things of Concern!

I don't believe in abortions, unless it's life threatening. What gives us the right to destroy a life that has not yet had a chance to live, just as we have on this beautiful earth? Doesn't that child deserve everything that we have, to breathe and grow up to see earth's beauty?

Our world is rules and regulations. We use laws that determined what we can say and can't say.

We're in a world where one has the same rights as another, but still we can't agree on some of these rights. I have the right to say whatever I want as long as it's said in a way that it doesn't promote anger toward anyone or any group. It's hard to voice your opinions with so many different sides ready to jump you for saying this and saying that. If what I say, offends one, will make the other happy. It's a no win situation. How can we solve anything?

Your Brains Full Potential!

I believe humans have the ability to use more than 10% of their brain like we've all been told all our life. I feel there is something inside us all to use more than that 10%. We just need to figure it out, and this alone may be an impossible task. I believe some people can have a second sense making them able to see things that are coming. It may not be the future, but small things. Every now and then, I think of someone and they show up, or I run into them somewhere. Is this a coincidence, or is it some hidden power we all possess, but don't know how to harness it to use to our advantage?

We all have the power to read another person when first meeting them and others that we know. It's a power that we have similar to animals, knowing exactly what to do, when first born. It's a gift from God I believe. There is so much we don't understand or that we're not supposed to understand. I know there are certain people in this world that have done some special things that most others wouldn't have a clue how to do.

I believe there are some hidden things in humans that have yet to be found, and this could explain some of the things we search for. It's in us all; we just need to find it. If there is a heaven, where we all will go after death. I feel that if there isn't life after death. Your brain keeps thinking, and I believe these thoughts are maybe what heaven is all about. All the thinking your brain as done throughout your life just can't stop or all those memories just stop.

The older I get, the more I believe more of the unknown, the unbelievable. There has to be a higher power, that we've never heard or seen, but one that truly is, the one that created all that exist. It reads in the Bible that we're not supposed to talk to the dead, nor do I believe we can. I believe one day at my death, I will think and feel my loved ones that have passed. I believe the human brain thinks on after death. We will be able to communicate with loved ones after death. We may not be able to see them, but feel and see their thoughts.

The human brain has the ability to do things beyond our grasp. If we could harness the human brains full potential. We could do things that we thought we could never do. I believe if we could go into a trance or deep sleep, we could learn to use the entire brain, I think this is possible. One needs to search ways of bringing out the brain's full potential to perform things that only happens in the movies. I feel this will happen one day, someone will figure the brain's potential.

We've already seen some special humans with the ability to play the piano, some are blind, artistic, with the ability to perform in ways that an intelligent person could not. These people are of something that I believe God as touched, for God has a heart for handicap people, and gives some of them special talents.

I also believe God gives them the ability to go through life with their disabilities without letting it stop them from achieving their life goals, and I have seen many doing just that. This is something special, a gift from God, who looks after these special humans.

Humans in today's world are so wrapped up in the everyday things that keep us all from using more than 10% of the brain, because we watch way too much television, play video games, surfing the net, and worry about how we can pay the bills. There is more tension on humans today than there was 20 years ago. This is because we see and hear so much more information because of the networks of the internet, and cable television that keep us from using all of our brain, with less thought and effort. God may have given some of us special powers that we don't even know we have. We must learn these powers.

I believe that God has all the power that the Bible talks about. He didn't give us all these powers because this would be a dangerous place for us all to live with such powers. He planned out all that we have and how we live.

God will never be believed by those of you that can't think beyond your logical thinking in the ways that most scientists and astronomers think, only to believe that earth and humans were created by it, or humans came from monkeys, that eventually started walking and talking. No one can explain how everything is so well planned with no flaws whatsoever. That earth has everything we need to thrive, beauty, air, water, food, with seasons all performing their duties to sustain our life on earth, and has been going now for probably a lot longer than the scientist say. I believe some of us have certain powers that will answer many questions about us humans, and the earth we live on. I'm not saying this power will be disappearing, or magic, but, the ability to use more than 10% of the brain.

I don't understand why this has not been mentioned much, because while searching for how, why and when earth was created, instead of searching for why this world works as it does, with all that we need. This is the question. Is it beyond our realm of knowledge to really find the answers, or is it that another power has made it so perfect as to never let it be known. This is for God only to know. Learn whatever kind of power you may have to use more than 10% of your brain.

Is there a hell? Will we go to hell when we sin, after we die, like the Bible says, throughout eternity? I believe hell is on earth today, and after death, and you can see it when you hear of a murdered victim, and the murderer getting caught and going to jail. All those doing crimes are living in hell now, and all those that commit these crimes suffer. The drug dealers live and die by the drugs and guns. You hear this everyday on the news. These people are suffering hell at this very moment.

People of all types are living with no compassion for human life, those that would take a life for a few dollars not to be caught, and think they got away with it, but did they really get away with it? Nobody may know that you committed a crime of murder, home invasion, rape, or robbery, but God knows and beware, don't think you got away with it, only left alone for a while to eventually get your due that is coming to you. Somewhere in your life, you'll pay for your wrong deeds. Don't think for a minute you got away with it. When you're before God, don't tell him you didn't do anything, because he knows all and everything we all do and did all our lives. I say stop all crimes against human citizens and love thy neighbors as your own family, for you will meet your victim again someday upon the return of the highest one to answer for all bad deeds.

If you think badly, you'll be punished with bad. Even if you don't act on bad, thinking of doing bad is bad. Anyone can kill and is very capable of taking a life, but most won't cross that line to do such a bad deed, because of compassion for others. They were brought up not to kill, rape and rob. If one kills, it's because they have no compassion for human life and only think of themselves, with no consideration of the victim's loved ones, without any remorse.

We'll all be punished for any and all bad deeds that we do throughout our life without mercy. Those of you that have committed such crimes as murder, rape and robbery, should give yourself up now, to do your time, and maybe God will have mercy on your soul, for getting punished by man instead of him punishing you, which his punishment will be much worse than man's punishment. There may be time for all who commit such crimes, to only hope that God has not already planned your punishment. I'm not trying to scare, but to warn. If you don't listen, I did my part and tried.

The brain that you were given, can be used to change something good or evil, it's up to you. We can persuade others to do good or bad. If we take this ability and raise our kids better, we can change all wrong to good. We all have the ability to stop crime, and it will take some time, but it can be accomplished through raising our kids better starting from the time they begin to talk and walk. We must not show anger or hatred towards anyone. Show kids your love for others, have pets throughout your child's growing up, to have compassion for those pets, and never let your child see you being cruel to any pets, so they'll grow up with the same compassion for animals as you have. Teach them confidence, and let them know all their life, that you can do anything you want to do if you put your mind to it. Never let your child see movies that are of killing, destruction, or anything negative that promotes hatred, racism that can influence your child in anyway. Bring your children up to appreciate life on earth. Always praise them for every good thing they do. Never let them hear you say, you can't do that, because that statement has held me back for most of my life. This statement coming from a mom or dad many times growing up can devastate ones positive to a negative throughout the rest of their lives, and will keep them from achieving their goals in life. To show an example is that one positive can be of greater value than ten negatives. The positives will do more for a child growing up than any negative that mom or dad says while growing up. If all the new young families starting out now, would go by these rules of raising their children, we could wipe out crime in America in as short as ten to fifteen years. These kids of a new way of being raised would be running our world with a great outlook, and compassion for all mankind. These children would be the next generation of fearless beings that let nothing stop them from achieving anything they want to do.

I want a better world for our children and great grandchildren for many years to come; for them not to have a world of worries, but a world of positive thinkers all raised to do well and shun all evil. To have these abilities to perform in ways like no other in the history of our existence, to push forward, without negative thoughts.

These new age children all raised right, will be a new America that every country will want to be like, and will follow.
