

We Have A Choice

We all have choices in life whether it be right, wrong, good or bad, it's entirely up to us as individuals. God gave us all freewill but our world today is not what God had in mind when He created it.

I feel that so many people will be very disappointed when the end time is upon them and they find out there really is A God. These people that didn't believe and lived their lives like they wanted and did whatever they wanted instead of living as God wanted. This will be a time that all sinners will be begging God for mercy. Only when God is real to them, will they believe, but for most of them, it will be too late.

You can't just do wrong all of your life and expect to go to heaven; you must live your life as God wants you to live and try and live a life as good as possible because God is a good God that forgives everyone that seeks His pardon.

God made it possible for everyone to be saved through his son Jesus Christ, and if you believe in Jesus Christ who died for you, just ask for forgiveness, be a good person to all and share, but most importantly live right and you'll be saved.

It's hard to live in our world with so much evil around us, and the non-believers that try to step on the dreams and hopes of the believers that want a better world to live in and want to do the right thing. The believers of a God that promises a place after life for eternity. Why wouldn't everyone want this?

We have a choice to do right, but if you choose to do wrong, you'll have to answer to a God you don't believe exist.
